From the PRESIDENT

Welcoming the New Year 2020 has been a dream of all Malaysians as we were set on a vision by the then leadership of the country. In honoring the spirit of this Vision, I humbly put forward my New Year well wishes to all Members of the Club.

My sincere and heartfelt appreciation to all Members who entrusted their faith to me in completing my tasks in my attempt of improving the esteemed Club in areas which required considerable attention during my tenure as the President of this Club. I also acknowledge Members who may have disagreed with my undertakings as I stand firmly on the believe of upholding the Constitution and the rules and regulations in place.

As President, I was overwhelmingly committed to increase membership of the Club. Currently we have a large percentage of senior members and the intake of new membership has been decreasing over the years. With conscious aims to fulfill this commitment, I created a new portfolio called the Membership Development Committee. Huge hats off to the Committee on pouring in a consistent hard work and successfully recruiting 58 new members during my term. I hope that this Committee would remain in existence in near future considering the contribution it has made to the Club.

Some of the renovations in the Club that took place were very much oriented in improving the facet the of the historical building without damaging any of the original structures. This included the surau, cricket room, guard house and the changing of roof tiles in stages. Hopefully these renovations would provide further comfort and a smoother functioning of the Club.

I m also very pleased to share that the healthy activities of the Club such as the billiards sports mainly the snooker, pool and golf has continued receiving an increase in participation. Golf has shown a hike in membership and this is indeed very welcoming. I would like to thank organizing Committees in their praiseworthy efforts and look forward to having the members to continue the enthusiasm and spirit in sports.

Having an agenda to further expand the activities that could be held in the Club and in the breath of jazzing up family oriented environment, the Committee together with me proposed the idea of having a pool, a gym and also a multi-purpose area overlooking the Ipoh Padang for the purposes of conducting special functions. Hence, the entire proposed architectural drawings have been endorsed by our Royal Patron and has been submitted to the City Council for its approval.

Finally, I would like to thank the highly dedicated and diligent Committee and all members on their continued backing in the aspiration of having all the ideas, improvements, enhancement, promotion, and advancement lined up for the Club successfully implemented to date. I look forward to having this support setting its significant foot from time to time.

DATO' THONG FAH CHONG DPMP,PMP,AMP,AMN.

From the EDITOR'S DESK

Esteemed Fellow Members of The Royal Ipoh Club,

We have just ushered into the New Year 2020 and here we are again, "The Ipoh Clubber" presenting to you briefly some of the recent affairs that the Club has been into.

The Club is thrilled to have its new members on board. Warm welcome to all and thank you!

Once again, the bulletin shares how well the Club was massively occupied with its sports and games events lined up from time to time. These events project a healthy spirit and energy worth admiration. Nothing beats events which promotes unity, team-work and good health!

Festive celebrations continued marking the Club's 2019 calendar having Azlan Shah hall witnessing a glorious Deepavali Night end of November 2019 followed by Christmas Eve Dinner serving its much appetizing roasted turkey accompanied by joyous year end vibes.

New year 2020 was ushered momentarily with a Countdown party in Azlan Shah Hall. Wishing all members, a blessed year ahead!

As the saying goes, 'reading makes people', the Club has never failed its effort in contributing new books. Three marvelous books are in library worth spending time with; BECOMING BY MICHELLE OBAMA, HEADS YOU WIN BY JEFFREY ARCHER and SILENT NIGHT BY DANIELLE STEEL.

Heartfelt appreciation to members who donated books to our Nazrin Shah Library. List of donors and books are stated in this bulletin.

Also thanking Mrs. Manmit Kaur for her short article on feminism, sharing briefly a perspective patriarchally controversial over the centuries. Looking forward to having more female members of our Club contributing articles that may enlighten intellect.

Lastly, deepest and sincere condolences to all the recent departing members of the Club and their family members. We thank them for all their contribution to the Club.

To the sponsors of the advertisement page, thank you!

FEMINISM: REDEFINING RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN INDIVIDUAL AND SOCIETY.

Feminism is a range of social movements, political movements and ideologies that share a common goal; to define, establish, and achieve the political, economic, personal, and social equality of the sexes. The feminist theory scholarship has always been centered at the idea of analyzing gender inequality. In the field of law, this theory has made a vibrant and controversial entry.

The significant concern of the feminist legal scholarship in my opinion is arguably to show how law defines what is male / female/masculine and feminine, reinforcement of the position of men and women in society to men's advantage and also analyzing how the differences between men and women should or should not be reflected in legal rules, institutions and structures.

Feminist views developed over the decades argued mainly on suppression, inadequate education, disengagement in public life, voting rights, equal protection by the law, freedom and equality in employment, reproductive rights and freedom over their own bodies and sexuality. The challenge and struggle have always been based on the idea of domination, emancipation and meaning of humanity. Much injustices, the wrongness of the violation or exploitation of women has been highlighted in feminist writings. But the question remains: Has the feminist legal theory really made a practical difference?

The gender system itself is a power system, unequally structured to suit men. Law's supposed neutrality only reinforces this inequality. However, law can be used as a tool to empower women to change both their circumstances and the legal system itself.

A great deal of social life is divided along gender lines. Feminism calls this into question. Feminist theories of patriarchy challenge the nature of power expressed in the private and public division of labour and social activities. Feminist tactics attempts to create a new "language of possibility", grappling with the tensions between the particular and the universal, the concrete and the abstract. There is a strong recognition that there is still a need, now even more than ever, for change, perhaps at the most mundane level, a global acceptance that treating women as less human than men is wrong!

HANDPHONES AND OUR HEARING, ARE WE ACCELERATING DEAFNESS

In today's world, most people we see around us happen to own a mobile phone. These devices are small, wireless and can fit into a pocket easily. This is in stark contrast to how things were 30 years ago when such mobile phones were heavy, cumbersome, and only accomplished basic functions.

Mobile phones today can function the same way most computers do, from sending e-mails, managing online banking, trading shares, video calls, even watching movies and video streams. In fact, with some phones we can even control the electrical appliances in our own homes.

It's no wonder these days if we walk through a shopping mall, most people can be seen glued to their mobile phones. It is also no surprise that the global revenue from smartphone sales hit 478 Billion US Dollars in 2017. Most of us feel helpless without our mobile phones. In fact, without it anxiety sets in for the vast majority of people, for those who have lost their mobile phones before, you know what I mean.

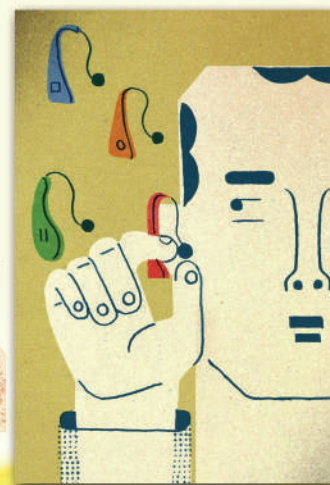

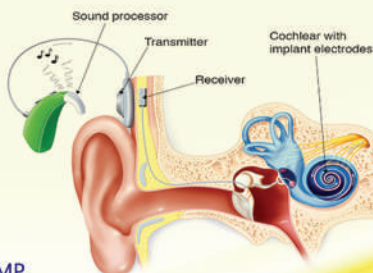

However, considering the mobile smartphone is a new phenomenon, there lies a question regarding long term health effects of such devices. Various theories have emerged linking the use of smartphones to increased incidence of brain cancer, visual loss, hearing loss, social and psychiatric conditions among others. Many of these links remain inconclusive at this point in time.

The link between hearing loss and mobile phone use has been talked about for some years now. In a study done by the Department of Otolaryngology at the Postgraduate Institute of Medical Education and Research in Chandigarh, India, researchers assessed and compared the changes to the central auditory pathway and the inner ear that resulted from exposure to the electromagnetic waves from mobile phones. Using a battery of tests, the hearing function of 125 people who had been regular cell phone users for at least one year was compared with the hearing function of 58 people who had never used cell phones. The results of the study showed those who were long-term cell phone users had significantly more hearing loss than the non-cell phone users.

According to a study conducted by the American Academy of Otolaryngology, the electromagnetic waves emitted by the phone caused damage, and this hearing loss is not necessarily caused by the high volume. However, that does not mean high volume does not affect your hearing. The potential damage to our hearing from loud music, much of which is now heard through the ubiquitous earbuds, is increasing every day. A recent report from the World Health Organization estimates more than one billion young people are at risk of permanent hearing loss, simply from listening to music that is too loud. "Anything where you're putting sound into the eardrum, that's something as a society that we need to take a closer look at," says Rex Banks, chief audiologist at the Canadian Hearing Society.

Cell phones and smartphones aren't going to disappear any time soon, but there are a few things you can do to protect your hearing. Experts recommend keeping your cell phone away from your ear as much as possible by texting, using the speaker phone or using a Bluetooth headset. If you have to hold the phone up to your ear, keep the calls short.

New phone technology is always impressive, but educating ourselves about its hearing dangers can go a long way toward protecting our hearing both now and in the future. And if we can't hear our friends anymore it would be a fairly sombre and silent future.
